It was when the immediate of a great-power conference at top level, or even businesslike talks about a summit meeting, would provide the day's headlines. It still makes front page news, but the subject has lost much of its urgency and sure of completion. The world is now almost resigned to the certainty that a conference will eventually take place, but interest in the meeting is not heightened by foreknowledge that, at best, it can hope to settle but some of the problems bedeviling the international scene. Not a few of the biggest headlines will continue to throb in their diplomatic temples as statements descend the opposite slopes from the summit. Some of them will not even have been tackled seriously, because the current armaments stalemate has not had time to place them into proper perspective. Other disputes will remain unsolved because it is not within the exclusive competence of the great powers to solve them until they resolve their own problems.

It is not within great-power competence, for instance, to offer a solution of the Greece-Turkey dispute over Cyprus, which is older than the cold war. Neither can any amount of discussion at the summit reconcile the Soviet-Yugoslav dispute which, though perhaps not as old, has its roots in age-old doctrinaire splits between the orthodox and non-orthodox communists. The summit conference is not a magic wand. It is a meeting of the great powers, and it is not within their competence to solve the problems of the smaller states.

Summit Talks
Endangered By
USSR Attitude

WASHINGTON, Tuesday (UPI). — Secretary of State Dulles, at his news conference today, said preparatory diplomatic talks with the Russians for a summit meeting were very likely to be broken off as a result of the suddenly stiffened Soviet attitude.

He said it was not definite that talks between the three Western Ambassadors in Moscow and the Soviet Foreign Ministry would be broken off, but he said the inference to draw from what has taken place.

Mr. Dulles said that although there were still some minor points outstanding, the U.S. was still planning to begin with Russia and others in Geneva on July 1. The technical studies of controls necessary for a nuclear suspension.

He declined to predict whether or not he thought there would be a summit meeting this year. But he did not think there was much likelihood of such a meeting within the next month or two.

He pointed out that he himself hoped to attend the Baghdad Pact meeting in London in the latter part of July and "I was hoping to go to Brazil in August."

In Moscow it was reported that Premier Khrushchev believed to have opened a major review of the prospects of a summit conference. It was believed that Khrushchev's remarks, which were relayed from Paris, Washington and London might mean that a major review of the prospects for a summit conference had been initiated in Moscow.

The State Department last night released the texts of two documents presented by the West to the Soviet Union in the pre-summit diplomatic negotiations in Moscow.

The documents were to be published by the Soviet Union because it claimed the Western press had distorted the Soviet position. The State Department thereupon decided to release the Western communications so as to prevent any distortion by the Soviet press.

Budapest Dubs Nagy
Execution 'Warning'

Budapest Radio declared last night that the execution of Imre Nagy, the Premier deposed when the October 1956 uprising was crushed by the Russians, and three other rebel leaders, is a warning to "others who intend to attack the people."

The state radio issued the warning 18 hours after its sudden disclosure that Nagy and three associates had been convicted of high treason and executed. It was the Government's first comment on the case after the decree from the Justice Ministry disclosing the trial and sentences.

The Hungarian announcement, however, was only made after the first news of the executions came from Moscow through the Soviet news agency, Tass.

Other Hungarian leaders were sentenced to prison terms of from five to 12 years, it was added. The agency said the Hungarian Court, under the Hungarian Supreme Court, sentenced Nagy, Miklos Gimes, Gen. Paul Malter, and Jozsef Sallasi to death. The sentences were final and there was no appeal.

Three of the men executed — Nagy, Malter, and Sallasi — pleaded not guilty. However, "they were unmasked by their accomplices and witnesses. The other accused showed no repentance and admitted their guilt," the communiqué said.

Nagy and his associates were taken to Romania after the Hungarian revolution was stamped out.

Observers in London and other European capitals saw the execution of Nagy as primarily a warning to Yugoslavia, and showing the world return to Stalinist methods. While the Kremlin hopes of bringing Tito back into the Socialist camp, Nagy was kept alive.

Besides being accused, like the Yugoslav case, of "revisionism," Nagy took physical revenge on the executioners.

France Seen As
Fourth Atomic
Weapon Power

PARIS, Tuesday (UPI). — An intensive plan by General de Gaulle to make France the world's fourth producer of atomic weapons was aired in circles close to the French Government today.

They said plans to expedite France's atomic programme got top priority at today's Cabinet meeting, which also discussed a number of foreign policy questions.

The French Foreign Ministry declined to comment on a statement made by de Gaulle last week that France is anxious to secure a place in the Western world "without confining ourselves to it," and might therefore reconsider membership in the U.N. but added that the U.S. would be inclined to participate physically in the U.N. to resolve the crisis.

Mr. Dulles twice said that the Lebanese situation was causing considerable anxiety "to those who believe in the independence and prosperity of the countries in the Middle East."

But he said it would be unwise for him to discuss events there in detail at the present time. He added that the U.S. Sixth Fleet, based in the Mediterranean, was watching the situation. Some of its elements were close to the scene and if needed could respond to an appropriate invitation.

The French Cabinet is also said to have discussed plans for a new French atomic programme. The French Foreign Ministry said that the French Government is now under a duty to study the situation. Some of its elements were close to the scene and if needed could respond to an appropriate invitation.

Dulles Says U.S. 'Inclined' To Give Military Support

WASHINGTON, Tuesday. — Secretary of State Dulles said today that the U.S. would be inclined to give military support to the Lebanese Government if a call was made for physical aid to end the crisis.

He told his news conference that the U.S. is watching the Lebanese situation with concern and that the Government would back any action which might be recommended by the U.N. Secretary-General, such as increasing the U.N. observer team there.

Pressed on this point, Mr. Dulles said he meant diplomatic support within the U.N. but added that the U.S. would be inclined to participate physically in the U.N. to resolve the crisis.

8 U.S. Aircraft
Bring Ammunition

BEIRUT, Tuesday. — Eight American Globemaster transport aircraft last night delivered a consignment of 75mm. ammunition to the Lebanese security forces. American sources said today.

It is understood that this kind of ammunition is intended for jump-mounted rocket rifles of a type delivered to the Lebanese under the Eisenhower Doctrine last year. The rifles can be used as an anti-tank weapon or in an infantry role. The aircraft arrived under cover of darkness and departed before dawn.

There was an explosion at the Beirut airport at night but the extent of damage was not immediately known. Three bombs exploded in Beirut last night and this morning but there was no street fighting.

The Minister of Justice, Bashir al Awar, resigned today, according to an official source here. The Cabinet had not yet decided whether to accept the resignation.

In Paris, Information Minister Andre Malraux told reporters after a cabinet meeting today that a French ship was standing by off the Lebanon coast ready to evacuate French nationals if necessary.

Cordier Meets
Jordan Premier

AMMAN, Tuesday. — Mr. Andrew Cordier, U.N. special envoy in the Middle East, and General Carl von Horn, Chief of Staff of the UNTSO, today discussed Mount Scopus with Samir Rifai, the Jordanian Prime Minister.

Mr. Cordier described the talks as "successful" and said that he and General Carl von Horn had submitted "useful proposals" to Rifai concerning a final solution of the question.

According to the Jordanian daily "El Wakeel," Mr. Cordier brought with him a proposal which he is to lay before the Israeli authorities suggesting that the Scopus area be turned into a second U.N. H.Q. in addition to Government House, which is situated on the Israel-Jordan Jerusalem border. The same source stated that the inhabitants of the village have submitted a memorandum to Mr. Cordier threatening that if his mission should prove unsuccessful they would take whatever measures they felt necessary to defend themselves against "repeated Israeli acts of aggression."

On June 2 Israel police guards on Mount Scopus opened fire after several organized groups of Jordanians tried to use a path which passed within seven metres of the Hadassah hospital buildings. During the incident, Jordanian was fatally wounded. The Israeli authorities had withdrawn the right of way formerly permitted along the path in view of the tension prevailing in the Scopus area following the shooting by Jordanians of Col. Flint, Chairman of the U.N. Israel-Jordan M.A.C. and four Israeli Policemen on May 26.

Mr. Cordier will see Prime Minister Ben-Gurion tomorrow (Wednesday) afternoon. Due to a misunderstanding, U.N. authorities in Jerusalem have been under the impression that the meeting was scheduled for today.

The U.N. envoy would leave for New York next week.

MRS. MEIR TO HAVE OPERATION TODAY

Jerusalem Post Reporter

The Foreign Minister, Mrs. Golda Meir, will undergo an operation for gall trouble at Beilinson Hospital today. It is expected that she will be able to return to her desk in three or four days.

Breaking a custom, the Foreign Ministry spokesman said that Mrs. Meir would resign from her post after her recovery. The report originated in the "Jerusalem Post" and was confirmed by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Defense.

According to informed circles in Jerusalem yesterday it was believed to be Mrs. Meir's intention to remain in her present position until the elections next year. She is known to have been critical of some moves made by the Defense Ministry with what is described as insufficient coordination with the Foreign Ministry, and to have expressed a wish that the work of the two ministries should be more carefully defined. The report in the "Jerusalem Post" on the other hand is described as "a complete misinterpretation of her intentions, whether in error or by design."

Other rumours had linked the scheduled arrival of Mr. Abba Eban next month with Mrs. Meir's imagined resignation. They claim that she is coming for his annual month's visit during the holiday season in Washington.

Mr. Eban is expected to return to the U.S. for the next U.N. assembly and will remain at his post in Washington until next year when he plans to come home for good.

Algeria to be 'Integrated';
Will Have Own Parliament

By MAURICE GARR, Jerusalem Post Correspondent

PARIS, Tuesday. — I am informed by sources close to Mr. Jacques Soustelle that there is no difference of opinion between himself and General de Gaulle regarding the future status of Algeria, which is to be "integrated" into the French Union and will have its own Parliament.

This can be taken as confirmation of the widely-held expectation that de Gaulle's Government will move to put the French economy on a firm footing. Public reaction to it will be widely considered as a test of confidence for the Prime Minister.

No End Seen Yet To London Bus Strike

LONDON, Tuesday (Reuters). — Hoping for a quick end to the London six week bus stoppage receded today when a majority of the Capital's 114 bus garages voted to continue the strike.

The Secretary-General indicated that there is no possibility of transferring the 6,000-man UNEF from the Gaza Strip border to the Lebanon.

Questioned about reports that "under certain circumstances" British and U.S. troops would consider intervention in the Lebanon, he replied that he was aware of what has been written but it was "very bad in politics" to attach too much importance to it. (UPI, Reuters)

A Candidate for Governor

It is the political trend favouring the Democratic Party continues until the elections in November as it seems in the last few months, that Mayor David Lawrence, of Pittsburgh, Penn., will find his main opposition in his race for Governor coming from his grandson.

The little fellow is against his leaving Pittsburgh for the capital in Harrisburg, says Mr. Lawrence. "I will miss it, I won't be able to take him to any more ball games."

Mr. Lawrence, who is celebrating his 80th birthday today, is a sure thing and is confident that his party will sweep the election. The current position is hurting the Republicans, he reports, in the city of brown, Pittsburgh, steel capital of the U.S., population 1.5 million, 50 per cent of capacity or half as much as it normally is.

Workers, he reports, are coming to the city in search of employment benefits, and hard times are ahead of them unless the Federal Government does something.

Mr. Lawrence is a familiar and influential figure in state and national politics. A friendly, fatherly man, he knows personally hundreds of members of Congress and the state legislature.

The night before he left New York for Israel, he had dinner with members of the Committee, including former President Truman and Mr. Adlai Stevenson. Yesterday, when he was Prime Minister Ben-Gurion, Mr. Lawrence

Home in Jerusalem
For Wandering Jews
Jerusalem Post Reporter

The attitude of Jewish communities abroad to the establishment of centres in Jerusalem which would serve as headquarters for visitors from their countries, is being sounded out by Dr. Nahum Goldmann, President of the World Zionist Organization, during his present trip abroad. The centres would be patterned somewhat after the model of the Z.O.A. House (in Tel Aviv) and would be built with funds contributed by the various Jewish communities.

The proposal was raised by Dr. Arye Altman, Herut M.K., and Chairman of the Jerusalem Municipality's Development, Economic and Tourist Committee. Dr. Goldmann promised to conduct talks abroad with the heads of the national communities concerned with all matters relating to tourism, pilgrimages and investments.
